

HUNTER AND THE BIRDS

INSTRUCTIVE STORIES FROM
SRILA PRABHUPADA

There was a hunter who wanted to practice his shooting

So he took some birds

And released them.

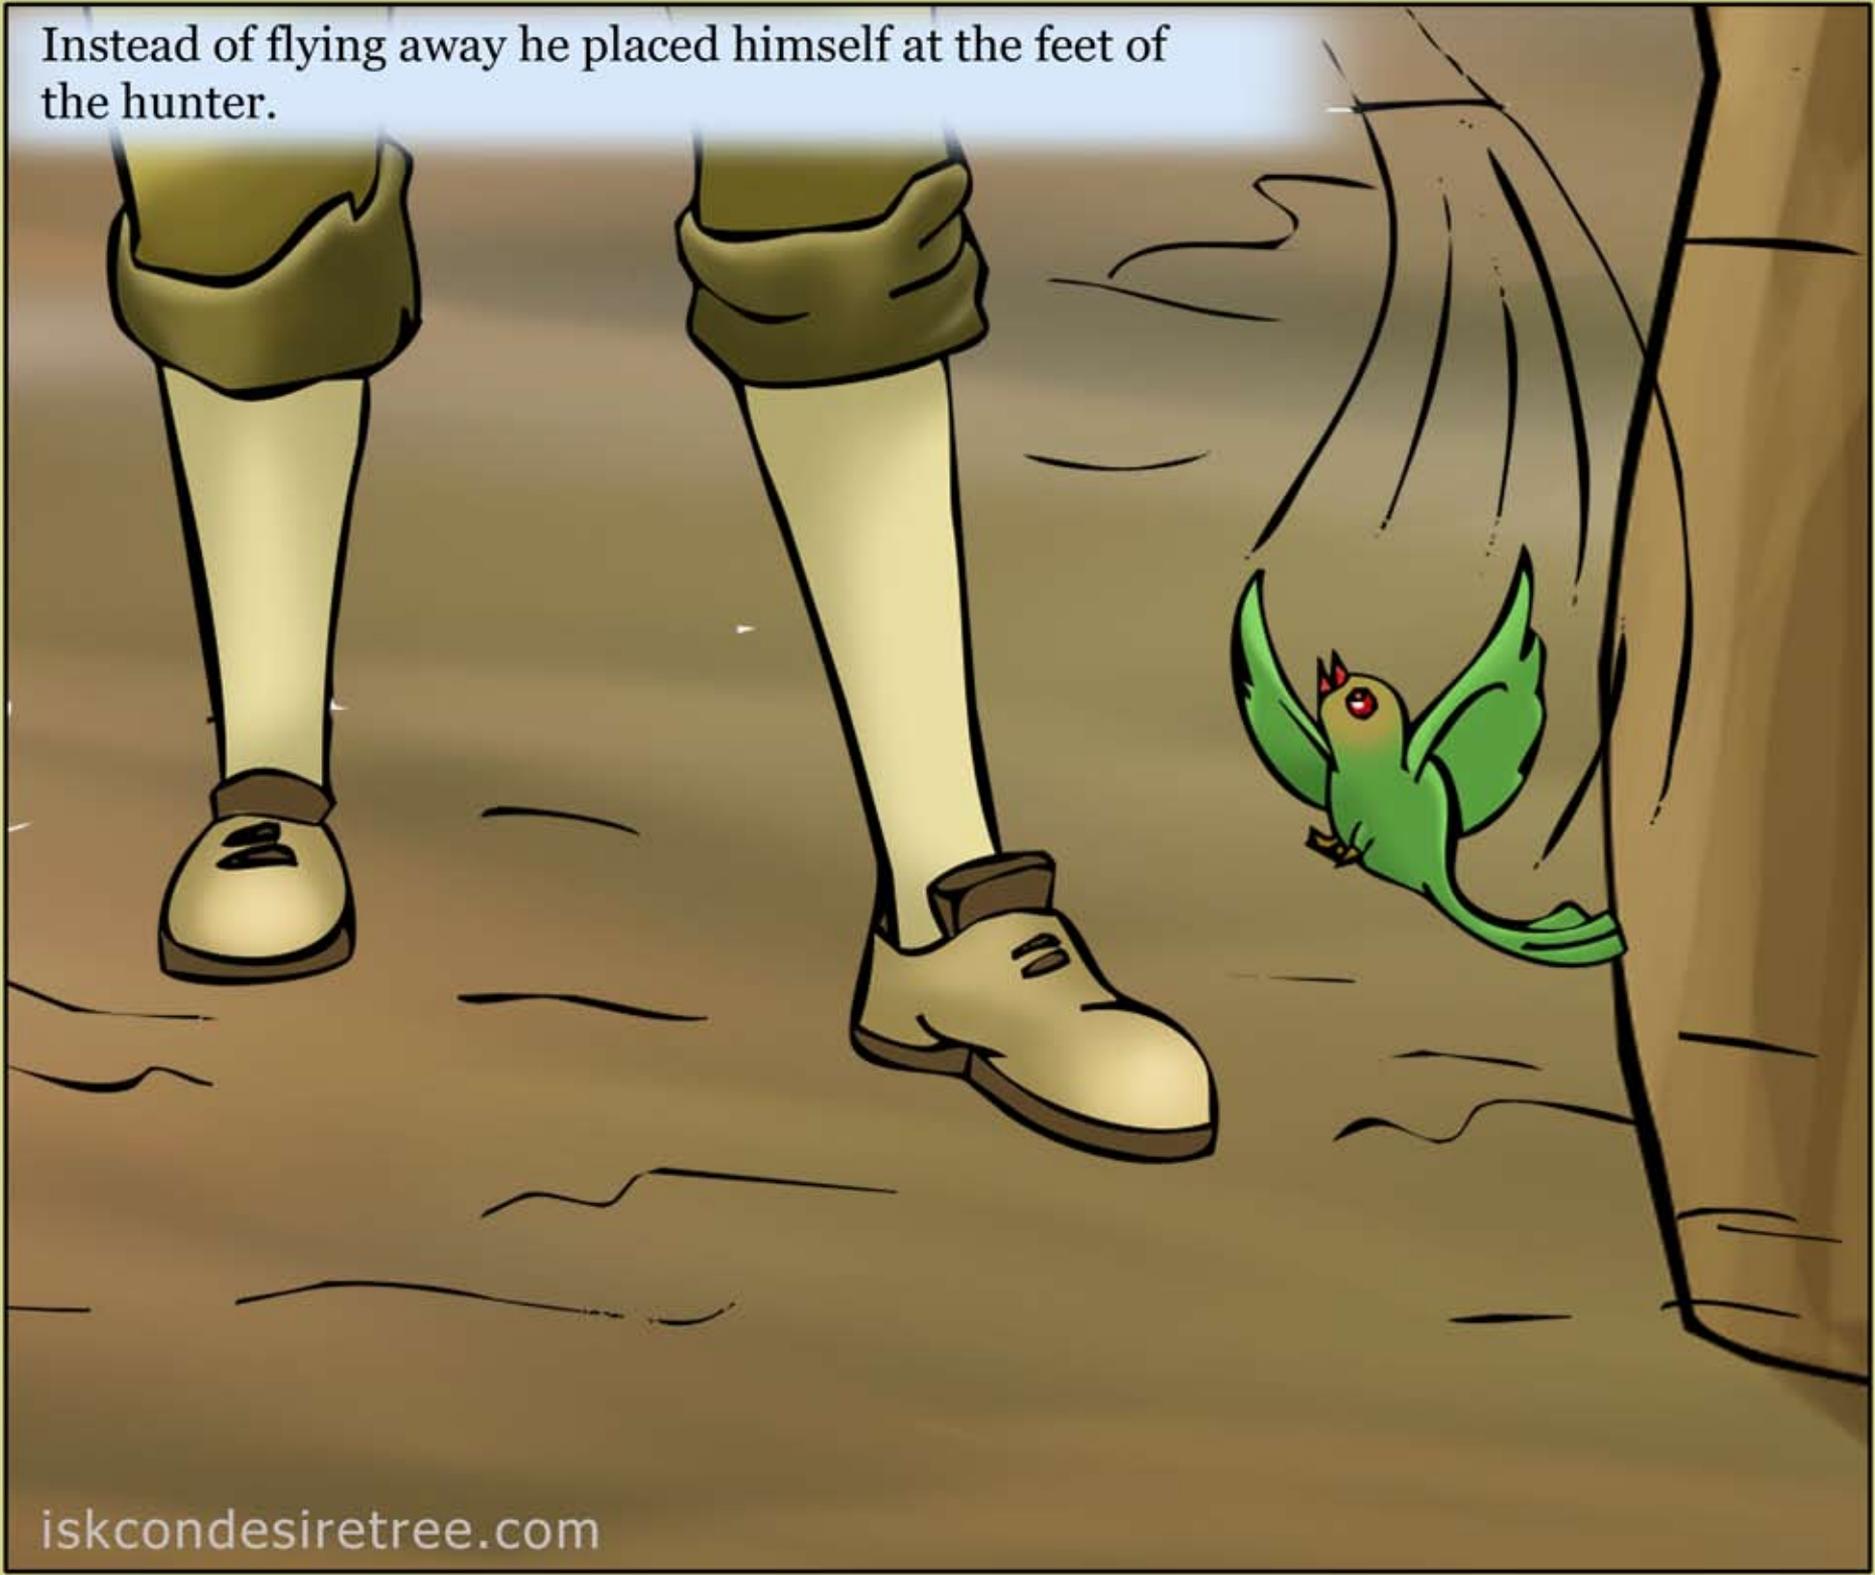

The birds flew away and all of them were shot

One bird was very cunning

Instead of flying away he placed himself at the feet of the hunter.

Being so situated, the hunter could not shoot the bird without harming himself.

MORAL :

Instead of flying away from Kṛṣṇa and being shot down by māyā, we should take shelter of Kṛṣṇa's feet and then māyā cannot touch us.
