

There are 50 errors in the following story. Read the story and make the proper corrections. Put punctuation and capital letters where they belong by putting a slash \ through the incorrect letter and then capitalize it above and put a circle around where the incorrect punctuation is or where it is missing and put in the correct punctuation. If a word is misspelled, put a line through the incorrect word and write the correct word above it. To indicate a new paragraph, put <sup>A</sup> where the new paragraph begins. Also, the end of the story is not finished. You must write 2 full and descriptive paragraphs to end the story. They should be philosophical. They cannot be foolish or you will receive an automatic "F". Points will be taken off for any incorrect spelling, punctuation, sentence structure, paragraphing, proper tense, etc. Points will also be taken off if you do not follow the above instructions properly. Take your time and proofread your work carefully.
Hare Krsna.

Several years ago, to young men went out on sankirtan early one day in the month of aug It were a warm, sunny day and he was eager to distribut Srila prabhupadas' boocks. They new that if they just tryed, krsna wood bee pleased with there endeavor. One morning they left early to go to a neighboring town where later their was to be a gathuring of artists who was trying to sell their paintings and crafts Theese two young devotees felt it would be well to go here as they're would be many peple and the atmosphere would be relaxed.

They drove for about a half and our and parks in a nearby parking lot. Before they got out of the car, they checked to see if they had proper tilak on. One of the devotee's noticed that their dhoti had a spot on it and so he told his frend, "I'll be right back. I have to clean my dhoti." He quickly returned and the two men gathered up they're books and began to distribute them. Everything is going very nicely. The people was friendly and receptive. Several people evan asked some nice questions and wanted to no if they could visit the tempel. Needless to say, the devotees told them about the sunday feest and about the Deities, Sri Sri