

Son-in-laws

INSTRUCTIVE STORIES BY
SRILA PRABHUPADA

There is a story called praharena dhananjaya. One gentleman had eight or nine daughters and sons-in-law

So when they came to stay there, he was giving them good food and shelter, everything

We are living very comfortably at our father-in-law's expense. So we should not go

It is very dangerous that all these sons-in-law are not going

So then he began to neglect providing few things to them. On the first day he did not supply salt

Oh, they are now disrespectful. They haven't given salt

So one went away

And the next day he didn't supply something else

Gradually he shortened it down

Those who were intelligent, they went away

But the last one, he was not going

At least it is somewhere to sleep

Then his brothers-in-law thought

Give him good beating

Then he went away

MORAL :

Others, those who were intelligent, went away when they saw that there was disrespectful dealing. The last one was a rascal. He was beaten severely, and then he went away. So the business of the material nature is kicking. But we are so fool that we take it. "Oh, very nice kicking."

- Srila Prabhupada