

The Ballad of King Yudhistira

The clouds above shower plentiful rain
The Earth bears sumptuous fruits and grains.
The cows with fatty milkbags stand
pouring milk ore the pasturing lands.

Earth citizens live free of fear
during the reign of King Yudhistira.
They suffer neither mental strain
nor heat, nor cold, nor bodily pain.

For the King would not allow the least of violence done to man nor beast.
Protect the man but kill the cow
King Yudhistira would never allow.

All human needs like grains and milk,
cotton, minerals, jewels and silk,
nature provides abundantly
as Yudhistira rules the land and the sea.

Now one may ask, "How could this all be,
that a king could reign so prosperously ?"
Well the answer is that his voice and sword
were empowered by the all powerful Lord.

Lord Krsna is our dearmost friend
and to save the fallen He descends.
Now He has kindly taken His birth to relieve the burden from the Earth.

So just as to water the root of a tree
will satisfy all the branches and leaves.
So the king's undaunted love for Him
transformed this Earth into heaven.
